

18. Mastin, B.J., & Lebster, G.E. (2008). Dewatering of oil-contaminated dredge residuals. In: Proceedings 28th Western Dredging Association Technical Conference 2008 St. Louis, Missouri, USA, 8-11 June, 2008 (pp. 363 - 382).
19. Wortelboer, R.J.M. (2014). Beneficial use of dredged sediments using geotextile tube technology. Proceedings of the South Baltic Conference on Dredged Materials in Dike Construction Rostock, 10-12 April, 2014 (pp. 181 - 186).
20. Babu, G.L.S., Reddy, K.R., De, A., & Datta, M. (Eds.). (2017). Geoenvironmental practices and sustainability developments in geotechnical engineering. Singapore: Springer. <https://doi.org/10.1007/978-981-10-4077-1>
21. Danaher, J. (2008). Evaluating geotextile technology to enhance sustainability of agricultural production systems in the US Virgin Islands. Aquaponics Journal, 50, 18 - 20.
22. Plamadeala, V., Rusu, A., & Bulat, L. (2013). Advantages of sewage sludge dehydration by geotube method. INCD ECOIND – International Symposium – SIMI 2013 “The Environment and the Industry” (pp. 133 - 141).
23. Murygina, V.P., Gaidamaka, S.N., Gladchenko, M.A., Lopatin, K.I., & Smirnov, A.D. (2016). Bottom sediments of water bodies and technologies for their purification from various pollution. M.: Izoproyekt.
24. Bhatia, S.K. (2017). Sustainable management of dredged sediments and waste using geotextile tube dewatering system. In: Babu, G.L.S., Reddy, K.R., De, A., & Datta, M. (Eds.). Geoenvironmental practices and sustainability. developments in geotechnical engineering. Singapore: Springer. Chapter 9 (pp. 91 - 97). https://doi.org/10.1007/978-981-10-4077-1_9
25. Harrington, J., & Smith, G. (2013). Guidance on the beneficial use of dredge material in Ireland. Report commissioned by Environmental Protection Agency, October 2013.
26. Rublevskaya, O.N., & Krasnopeev, A.L. (2011). Experience in introduction of up-to-date technologies and methods of wastewater sludge treatment. Vodosnabzhenie i sanitarnaya tekhnika = Water Supply and Sanitary Technique, 4, 65 - 69 (in Russ.).
27. Fakhruddinov, A.I., Yampolskaya, T.D., & Zubaydullin, A.A. (2016). Ground deposits petrodestructive activity of lakes polluted by hydrocarbons. Izv. Samarskogo nauchnogo tsentra Ross. Akad. Nauk = Bulletin of Samara Scientific Center of the Russian Academy of Sciences, 18(2), 534 - 543 (in Russ.).
28. Project for lake remediation from oil pollution in the region of pad 14 of the Yuzhno-Agansky license area and recultivation of the prior territory. Report, Vol. 5, section 5, subsection 7. SibNIPRP, 2012 (in Russ.).